

A Drive to Find a Cure for M.S. is a non-profit foundation organized to raise money to donate to research projects that focus on making significant strides to find a cure as well as treatments to limit the damaging effects of Multiple Sclerosis (MS).

MS is a disease of the central nervous system identified by progressive symptoms, and areas of inflammation and demyelination affecting the brain, spinal cord and optic nerves.

All proceeds received from this golf tournament will go to the Judith Jaffe Multiple Sclerosis Center through the Weill Cornell Medical College, which provides the latest diagnostic and therapeutic services for patients with MS.

The program which is recognized by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, is dedicated to providing comprehensive patient care through a coordinated multidisciplinary approach of relevant clinical departments, and provides the most current treatment protocols available for multiple sclerosis, including approved and novel investigational therapies. 100% of every dollar received by the Judith Jaffe Multiple Sclerosis Center goes directly into research to find new treatment and drugs to repair the damage on the central nervous system caused by demyelination.

For more information about the Judith Jaffe Multiple Sclerosis, please visit their website at:
